Election Results: Kyle Allen Will Join City Council Councilors Darell Lumaco, Steve Callaway Re-elected

The Hillsboro City Council will mostly look familiar in 2015, as six members return and Council President Aron Carleson departs due to term limits. Councilors Steve Callaway and Darell Lumaco both ran unopposed, and each will serve a second four-year term. Joining Callaway, Lumaco, Mayor Jerry Willey, Councilors Olga Acuña, Megan Braze, and Fred Nachtigal on the City Council in 2015 will be newly-elected Councilor Kyle Allen, who will be sworn into office on Tuesday, January 6.

Allen has served on the Hillsboro Budget Committee, and currently works for Working America, a nonprofit organization, as Oregon Director of Field Operations. He and his wife, Lisa, moved to Hillsboro with their two young children. Representing Ward 2, Position A, Allen plans to continue to advocate for safe sidewalks in front of local elementary schools, and will seek to build on the successful Hillsboro 2020 plan with Imagine Hillsboro 2035.

"Hillsboro is a wonderful place to live and I look forward to working with our community to make our city even stronger," Allen said.

Looking ahead to his second term on the Council representing Ward 1, Position A, Lumaco has set his sights on continuing the City's progress.

"I want to help continue the positive momentum by providing opportunities for job creation, expanded housing and safe streets, along with an expanding network of sidewalks, bike paths and parks," Lumaco said. continued on page 2

State of the City 2015 Preview

One of my favorite events of the year, the State of the City Address, takes place later this month on Thursday, January 29, and there's no other event like it. What makes the State of the City special is that we can come together as a large group to recognize Hillsboro's accomplishments over the past year, look ahead at the exciting things to come, and celebrate what unites us in our work: our appreciation for our hometown, and our collective desire to plan for a great future.

Last year, more than 300 people gathered at the Hillsboro Main Library as we showcased the best of our community, the Mayor's Youth Advisory Council, Hillsboro's PCC Future Connect scholars and my fellow City Councilors. Without the collaborative work between the Council, City of Hillsboro leadership and staff, and our community, we would not be in as strong a position as we are today.

With the continuation of our successful partnership with Intel in 2014, we have paved the way for a future investment in our community of up to $100 billion. Coupled with our continued commitment to providing educational support to local schools and students, many of our accomplishments in 2014 represent our efforts continued on page 2

Council President Aron Carleson

In Ward 3, Position A, Callaway also wants to ensure that Hillsboro’s future is as great as its past.

“Addressing quality-of-life issues will continue to be a priority: community safety and sidewalks, strong schools and opportunities for our youth; parks and libraries; transportation and jobs; and Hillsboro 2020,” Callaway said.

For Carleson, the end of her tenure as Council President will allow her to focus additional time on her role as the Executive Director of the Hillsboro Schools Foundation.

“I have loved this incredible opportunity and have tried to represent our future while respecting our past,” Carleson said, who served as a Councilor for the past eight years. “From the local level, you can see the impact of a crosswalk, or the jobs created with new businesses. We have been able to enhance communities by making them safer and more walkable, including adding sidewalks around school areas.”

to provide steady, consistent leadership that has already produced great results for our community. A prime example is the continued progress we have made in working with our regional partners to plan the Willamette Water Supply Program.

We have taken new steps forward for our great City with the opening of the 4th Main mixed-use development, which already is fully leased for residential living. Our efforts to revitalize Downtown Hillsboro have also led us to move forward with planning for the conversion of streets in the Downtown core to two-way traffic. I’m pleased to see this strategic investment bringing, not one but two, beer-themed establishments to the Downtown, with the expectation that there will be more exciting news to come in the months ahead.

A short drive from Downtown, the remodeled Shute Park Branch Library is providing residents with the modern amenities that make our libraries great community gathering spaces. The space also reflects our commitment to sustainability, as Hillsboro was recognized by the Department of Energy in 2014 for the Shute Park Branch Library’s energy-saving design.

On Hillsboro’s north side, we are excited to see our businesses continue to expand and prosper, leading to more job opportunities at companies such as Reser’s Fine Foods and Davis Tool. In the center of our City, the future of housing in Hillsboro is very bright as work continues to bring more than 1,000 new apartment homes to the Platform District at Orenco Station.

While we have challenges to tackle in 2015, such as providing adequate funding to keep up with our road maintenance needs, we also have exciting developments in store. Continued progress in the Orenco Platform District, South Hillsboro and Amberglen, as well as additional recreation space at Orenco Woods Nature Park and Cornell Creek Park, give our community much to anticipate.

I hope you can join us again this year, on Thursday, January 29, to celebrate our community and our efforts to plan for tomorrow’s success.

CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

The City Council's Commitment to Our Students & Schools

City Manager Michael Brown

As we look ahead to the exciting opportunities in store for the City of Hillsboro in 2015, it's also a great time to reflect on the positive impact that the City Council has had on our community over the past two years. While there are too many important achievements to list here, I would like to point out the Council's strong commitment to helping local schools and students.

The Council's direction to support the Portland Community College Future Connect Program has allowed our City to help 100 students from Hillsboro in achieving their goal of attending college. With $200,000 already invested, the Council recently authorized an additional $100,000 to help a third group of 50 local students to achieve their dreams.

This Council also felt very passionately about helping to protect our local students as they make their way to school. The City of Hillsboro already supports the safety of local schools by providing School Resource Officers from the Hillsboro Police Department. The Council increased that support by making sidewalk safety a priority. City staff have since worked to improve the sidewalk connections for student pedestrians and bicyclists around W.L. Henry Elementary School and Poynter Middle School. The Council also identified Brookwood Elementary School as a high priority for sidewalk safety improvements in the near future.

Paying for the sidewalk safety improvements projects was made possible by the Council's direction to use Gain Share funding to cover the costs. In addition to helping our students get to their school safely, the City Council partnered with Washington County to provide $13 million in Gain Share funds directly to local school districts over the last two years. In the Hillsboro School District, that Gain Share funding of more than $3.1 million was used to restore lost school days.

Beyond schools, the Council's support for our public libraries has led to the expansion and renovation of the Main Library and the Shute Park Branch Library. Both locations provide a great space for our students to study and research, and an environment where parents can guide our youngest residents into becoming lifelong learners and readers.

Looking ahead to the future, the Council has advocated for the update currently underway to the original Hillsboro 2020 Vision and Action Plan. With the vast majority of goals from the 2020 plan now complete, the new Hillsboro 2035 Community Plan will pave the way for our City to raise the bar even higher. With the Council's strong support, many of our City's goals for the future will be tied directly to education and workforce development.

The connection between education and local government has never been stronger in the City of Hillsboro, thanks to our City Council.

Honoring Hillsboro's History: Shirley Huffman Comes Home to the Civic Center Auditorium

Former Hillsboro Mayor Shirley Huffman still lives in Hillsboro and, on Tuesday, January 6, the City of Hillsboro will bring Shirley home to the Hillsboro Civic Center, so to speak.

The story of her return dates back to 2000, when Huffman's many contributions to the City were recognized in the naming of the Shirley Huffman Auditorium at the Public Services Building – then shared by the City of Hillsboro and Washington County.

When the City of Hillsboro relocated across the street to the Hillsboro Civic Center in 2005, Huffman's name stayed attached to the Public Services Building. That will change on January 6, when the Civic Center Auditorium is renamed the Shirley Huffman Auditorium, effectively bringing Shirley back home.

Huffman moved to Hillsboro in 1954 with her husband Tom. They worked together at his law practice, where Shirley served as paralegal and office manager. First appointed to the Hillsboro City Council in 1979, Shirley Huffman continued to serve as Councilor until she became Hillsboro's first female mayor in 1985, serving the City until 1993.

The Mayor's job was part-time and unpaid when Huffman held office, yet she was known to work between 35 and 40 hours each week on behalf of the City. Her advocacy helped extend the term of mayor from two years to four years, in order to give the Mayor more time to accomplish goals.

Huffman forever will be known for her instrumental role in fighting to secure the extension of the MAX light rail Blue Line from 185th Avenue to Downtown Hillsboro, which included her successful effort to lobby Congress directly in Washington, DC. Huffman also helped the City begin its sister city relationship with Fukuroi, Japan, in 1988.

You're invited to join our entire community in honoring Shirley Huffman on Tuesday, January 6, at 7 pm, as the Hillsboro Civic Center Auditorium is renamed the Shirley Huffman Auditorium. A reception honoring Shirley, and other elected officials, will take place ahead of the City Council meeting from 6 - 7 pm in the Civic Center foyer.

Honoring Hillsboro's History: Gordon Faber's Legacy

Another former Mayor on the minds of Hillsboro residents this year is Gordon Faber, who passed away in August after leaving a lasting legacy. Most residents – new and old – are familiar with the Gordon Faber Recreation Complex, the 90-acre site that includes Hillsboro Stadium and Ron Tonkin Field.

Faber was a member of the Hillsboro City Council for 10 years before serving the City as Mayor from 1993 to 2001. From the time he took office as mayor until the time he left, Hillsboro's population soared from about 40,000 residents to more than 72,000 residents.

Following Huffman in office, Faber oversaw the opening of the MAX light rail Blue Line, the creation of the Ronler Acres Urban Renewal District which led to Intel's campus, the construction of Hillsboro Stadium, and the launch of the Hillsboro 2020 Vision plan, which continues on today as the updated Imagine Hillsboro 2035!

Mayor Faber takes part in the first ride through the Westside MAX tunnel, February 4, 1998.

GREAT NEWS!

- The City of Hillsboro has received the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award from the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) for its Fiscal Year 2014-15 Budget. This is the fourth year that Hillsboro has received a Certificate of Recognition for Budget Presentation for satisfying nationally recognized guidelines for effective budget presentation.
- A total of 285 students from Century, Glencoe, Hillsboro, Liberty, and Miller Education Center high schools took part in Youth Invasion 2014 in October. Students explored career options in local government and learned how City of Hillsboro employees work to serve the community.
- The City of Hillsboro and sister city, Fukuroi, Japan, have agreed to continue the partnership, which originated more than 25 years ago.
- The Friends of the Hillsboro Public Library 10-day book sale broke a record by raising more than $56,000 to purchase bestsellers for the Library. Additionally, the Hillsboro Public Library has purchased a 3D printer, thanks to funding from the Friends of the Hillsboro Public Library.
- The Hillsboro Police Department's Shred It event led to the shredding of 26,000 pounds of documents, and $4,116 raised for local graduation-night parties.
- Hillsboro Fire Department firefighters are working to teach hands-only CPR to students from Hillsboro's high schools so that those students can teach hands-only CPR to middle school students in Hillsboro.
- Community members, City staff, volunteers and elected officials continue to work together to draft the Hillsboro 2035 Community Plan. These "Theme Teams" tackled four categories: 1) Education and Community Involvement; 2) Livability and Recreation; 3) Economy and Infrastructure; and 4) Health, Wellness and Safety. After reviewing hundreds of ideas collected from thousands of community members for the future of Hillsboro, the teams drafted actionable initiatives for the new plan that will help guide the City to continue to grow great things over the next 20 years. These community initiatives will be ready for public review in March. For more information, visit www.Hillsboro2035.org.

Know Your Water Provider

Depending on your location in Hillsboro, the water provider for your home or business is either the Hillsboro Water Department or the Tualatin Valley Water District. Both agencies work closely together to provide high-value, reliable water service to all customers in Hillsboro.

Recently, both agencies agreed to partner on the Willamette Water Supply Program, with a goal of bringing additional water to Hillsboro and the surrounding area from the mid-Willamette River. This feat would be nearly impossible for either agency to achieve alone, due to cost and risk associated with an infrastructure project of this magnitude. By working together, the project is doable for both agencies. Another way the two agencies coordinate is by offering the same or similar conservation programs, such as water-efficiency rebates, to all Hillsboro customers.

	Hillsboro Water Department	Tualatin Valley Water District
Hillsboro homes and businesses serviced	More than 24,000	About 1,500
Total accounts serviced	25,000 (6th largest provider in Oregon)	60,000 (2nd largest provider in Oregon)
Fluoridation?	No (Voted down in 1953)	Yes, except for Metzger (Approved by Wolf Creek service area voters in 1963)
Avg. monthly household bill for water service	$24.15	$27.61
Water source	Tualatin Watershed	Tualatin Watershed and Bull Run
Agency policy makers	Utilities Commission (Three members appointed by City Council for 3 year, renewable terms)	Board of Commissioners (Five members elected to four-year terms by District voters)

COUNCIL SPOTLIGHT: Councilor Fred Nachtigal

COUNCIL EXPERIENCE: Fred was elected to the Hillsboro City Council in November 2012. His current term expires in January 2016, and he is eligible to seek a second term.

COMMUNITY EXPERIENCE: Fred is a lifelong Hillsboro resident and businessman, both living and working in the Downtown area. A member of the City's Finance Committee and Audit Committee, Fred has also been involved in the Tuality Hospital Board, Valley Catholic School Board, Hillsboro Optimist Club and the All-Saints Episcopal Church. Fred met his wife Gayle, a retired Washington County Circuit Court judge, on their first day of class at Lewis & Clark Law School where they were seated next to each other. They have two daughters.

EDUCATION & WORK EXPERIENCE: Fred graduated from Hillsboro High School, Southern Oregon University, and Lewis and Clark College Law School. Early in his career,

Fred worked as a Deputy Sheriff for more than three years before taking a clerkship in a Portland law firm. After clerking for the Circuit Court, Fred joined the District Attorney's Office. Currently, he is an attorney with the law firm Nachtigal, Eisenstein & Associates.

WHY SERVE ON THE HILLSBORO CITY COUNCIL?

"It is an honor to assist in running a town that gave so much to me and my children. It provides an opportunity for me to help the town grow into the future."

WHAT ARE YOUR HOPES AND GOALS?

"To help establish a firm foundation from which the town can grow into the future. To leave the town in as good or better shape than when I was elected, and to provide a great place for future generations."

Go Behind the Badge with the HPD Citizens' Academy

When you think of a police department, perhaps some of the first images that come to mind are a uniform and a badge. That certainly paints part of the picture; however, there is so much more to see.

You can get a first-hand look at law enforcement, and learn why officers make the decisions they do, by attending the 2015 Hillsboro Police Department Citizens' Academy. You'll see it takes more to operating an effective police department than just enforcement, and that behind the badge, there's a person looking to make a difference in the community. Best of all, it's free to community members.

Classes run for 12 weeks on Thursday evenings from 6:30 – 10 pm, starting on February 5, continuing through April 23. Pre-registration is required for the Citizens' Academy, and participants must be at least 18 years old and pass a background check. Applications are due by January 22, and are available online at www.Hillsboro-Oregon.gov/Police.

For more information, call 503-681-5207 or email earleen.reimann@hillsboro-oregon.gov.
